On Washington's Farewell Address.

The following is a speech delivered by W. C. Hamilton, of the Southern Normal School at Bowling Green, Ky., February 22. Mr. Hamilton stands among the first as an orator and student in this school. He is one of our Menifee county boys who has forged to the front and we are glad to give our people some idea of his developments by publishing this speech:

"When Washington delivered his farewell address a great work had been completed. The basic of this structure was laid in the founding of our government. It has borne its part through the progress of this century. It is inspiring in its teaching. We have not been disappointed by its advice. We hold it as a memorial of the past, a guide for the present and for all succeeding ages. It was left for a purpose, and that purpose reveals its character. It teaches patriotism and independence, civil liberty and Christianity, cementing our national union, elevating and bringing into action our moral qualities and call to our minds afresh the noble blood that was shed for our independence.

It was spoken by the tongue of man; now it speaks to us through the hearts of our countrymen, contrary to the spirit which leads to ignorance, strife and corruption, whose predominating influence has become imbedded in different sections of our Union. The spirit which has woven itself into our practice by the feeling of retaliation originated from the discordant parties, each struggling for supremacy. Separately each of these views has great force in prompting men to action, but when seeking the self-same object, they have the most violent and turbulent effect. These are the efforts put forth for pre-eminence, through the heat of contention, the infinite abuse of parties tearing down the best of characters. Listen to the wise man! The sage of Mt. Vernon! as he tells us that party spirit distracts the public councils, subdues the public administration, agitates the community with ill-founded jealousies and kindles the animosity of one party against another and formulates occasional riots and insurrections. It is not the wise and moderate, the lovers of peace and good order, the men fittest for the trust, but the bold, the violent, the men of strong passions and a sullen disregard for the safety and honor of our Union.

They thrust themselves into our government and seek the place as our rulers, men to whom liberty and patriotism are but a secondary consideration. They exempt themselves from bonds of council, which is so deeply imbedded with the sense of religious duty, which feels in all its energy the need of that tender tie which unites the hearts of all patriotic men, who hold the connection with our country which might have been severed, had we not been under the protection of a kind government, strengthened by that feeling of religious worship, from which we have obtained so many comforts and enjoyments at home. If we investigate the condition of other nations we see that instead of pure religion, they may be divided into transgressors and advocates of corruption, and are more attentive to the ordinances of man than oracles of truth.

The rulers of many nations have suppressed down the rights of private judgment and freedom of speech, until they have driven from many parts men who directed their course to this happy country of ours. Let us welcome our new visitors to the protection of a free government, supported by a body of people who would not turn religion into derision, nor for any consideration turn their swords against their own country.

Let us never lose that spark of patriotic love, which leads us to know if we should unite our American liberties with foreign Aggragism, we would be violating the principles of the great Leader. The father of this country advised in his farewell message, to observe good faith and justice with all nations, keep peace and harmony with them, but to avoid entangling alliance especially with European powers, and by interweaving our destiny with any part of Europe entangle our force and prosperity; and the rivalry would lead us to destruction. So great an annexation and such a distance from our government would gradually and eventually grow beyond our power to control. The power required to command peace and good order at home would subject all our rights and privileges to the power of that nation. We would find ourselves in need of more numerous supports for our government and the burdens inflicted upon us vessels.

Yet to withstand this avaricious greed we have to but allow the shores to embrace our powers, and be the dead line of our intruders.

We have formally and carefully chosen a government for ourselves, by open and influenced desire organized ourselves into a great body where honors are not conferred by birth or wealth, nor a reason from eminency, but he who is most able to secure public happiness shall be the servant of the people.

Such distinction is drawn by the rulers of our government, "Leave the bird of night to the obscurity intended for him. And only expect the eagle with his wings tipped with the stars and stripes to drive away the clouds and gaze boldly upon the Sun."

Now we stand where we behold a great view of the past, where smoke once shadowed our fame and darkness spread over the land, but the great foresight of man, observed the revelation of our future as a rainbow on the edge of a summer's cloud, showing on its mantled brow the great future awaiting us.

Thus our nation was saved, our peace secured, there was no mistake in their efforts. We are but one great body of people, our nation is now complete. A love for the perpetual union is mingling with us in all the pleasures of life, and permeated the immensity of recesses of our lives. Through it we see not the birth of an old shadow, but the stature of our country's humor, which every one may make his own, and cherish it in the name of him in whose sacred memory this day has been set apart. And may it ever be honored with the same earnest spirit.

He who did more than all others to make the union, in bidding his countrymen farewell, conjured them to cherish a constant, cordial and immovable attachment to it, to think and speak of it as a palladium of our safety and prosperity and indignantly frown upon any attempt to enfeeble the sacred tie which now bind us together. As citizens we honor him for the gift of our union, with recollections of thankfulness and gratitude equally fervent. At this day it can not but strike us as extraordinary that we are walking under the shadow of a monument which bears his name, the Declaration of Independence, the dissolution of the ties of allegiance, the assumption of sovereign power and the institution of Civil Government. But still there remains a crowning document, advice to his people, the essence of his own mind and heart, influenced by the will of God, for the management of affairs of our union at home and abroad. With all this, we should not make a mistake to ignore its truth, all danger is ahead. We have been wisely admonished to look upon our union for safety and prosperity, disowning every act that would in any way lead us to believe it could be abandoned, or any attempt to separate it into parts, or sever the sacred ties which bind us together. Without union our liberties would never have been given, without union we can never maintain our power. The loss of justice, rights in all future happiness must inevitably lead to a dissolution of our union. Let us never remember that we bear the name of Americans, are the authors of our own laws, that American blood was not expended in vain, and that same spirit of freedom beats in the heart of our countrymen.

We to-day can see the growth of our broad land in beauty and grandeur; in our hands we hold a reward long sought. If we, like other nations, allow a few centuries to warp us, who will remain to come to our rescue? Who will will to our fallen government? Who will rear again the stately walls of constitutional freedom? "And erect a monument that nations can not alter, time can not efface and give to us a foundation for our government that will never decay? We should cause nations to look upon us with admiration, the earth, which we inhabit embracing to her bosom her greatest sons, whose faces look upward from the sod and behold the light of liberty still burning. Let us hope for our country's progress in the same happy state, filled with the continuance of her grandeur, and at the close of this century which has just commenced may this day be celebrated with the same heart-felt thankfulness as we all refer to the blessings bestowed upon us nearly two centuries ago. May our nation remain untouched and unimpaired, still growing in majesty, its arms a compass for the earth stretching forth its banner gleaming with its natural luster, without the fading of a stripe or the loss of a star, carrying with its far reaching arm the great document of truth; withstanding the pressure of centuries, clinging to its youthful vigor and strength of manhood. Bound with national union as the chain of life is centered to the heart, and without a blunder it will soar with steady wing to the summit of national glory. Like an emanation from heaven it has gone forth and will continue to go. It has shown in its example that its benignity is as great as its strength, that it has withstood the irresistible force with which they have prostrated principles and powers. Then in the end, when our work has been completed, after labors, perils, and sacrifices of a long eventful career, and until the Archangel shall sound the proclamation that time shall be no more, may the name of America be embraced by National Union stand enrolled at the top of the register of progress and, sinking behind the unseen wall, have hoisted her banner in the ethereal regions so high that after the stripes have gone the stars for our own America are left still shining.

KENTUCKY INDUSTRIES

THE MANUFACTURE OF TOBACCO IS THE MOST IMPORTANT.

Interesting Census Figures Show the Growth of this Industry in the Commonwealth.

The statistics of manufacturing industries in the State of Kentucky for the census year 1900 show that the manufacture of tobacco is the most important industry in the State. The 337 establishments reported in 1900 with a total capital of $9,451,728 gave employment to 6,838 wage earners, or 10.9 per cent of the wage earners of the State, and the products were valued at $21,922,411, or 4.2 per cent of the products of the State. In 1890 there were 26 establishments with a total capital of $4,890,851, wage earners to the number of 5,435 and products valued at $11,321,575.

The increase in the value of the products during the decade was $10,600,736, or 93.6 per cent.

In 1890 there were 38 establishments in the State devoted to the manufacture of smoking and chewing tobacco and snuff; in 1900 there were 72 establishment in Kentucky engaged in the stemmimg and rehanding of tobacco. The number of such establishments has increased to 83 in 1900.

We to-day can see the growth of our broad land in beauty and grandeur; in our hands we hold a reward long sought. If we, like other nations, allow a few centuries to warp us, who will remain to come to our rescue? Who will will to our fallen government? Who will rear again the stately walls of constitutional freedom? Getting Thin is all right, if you are too fat; and all wrong, if too thin already.

Fat, enough for your habit, is healthy; a little more, or less, is no great harm. Too fat, consult a doctor; too thin, persistently thin, no matter what cause, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

There are many causes of getting too thin; they all come under these two heads: over-work and under-digestion.

Stop over-work, if you can; but, whether you can or not, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, to balance yourself with your work. You can't live on it—true—but, by it, you can. There's a limit, however; you'll pay for it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the readiest cure for "can't eat," unless it comes of your doing no work—you can't long be well and strong, without some sort of activity.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no counterfeits. If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its a genuine emulsion will surprise you. SCOTT & BOWNS, 408 Park Street, New York.

THE SCRIBBLER

Wise and Otherwise—
Mostly Observant.

To disprove the charge that poetry is decadent, the young ladies of Pratt, Kansas, announce in vigorous verse that "the lip that touched the cigarette shall never pause beneath our snoots." Boys it would be well for you to join the "Anti-Cigarette Society of which we made mention last week—which, by the way, girls, you can do more, if you will, to stop cigarette smoking than all the "clubs" ever organized, because every "lassie has a ladie" and our Kentucky boys are too chiv alrous not to obey your requests."

A thankful wife has sent the following recommendation to an Omaha druggist who is pushing the sale of a certain patent medicine:

"Gentlemen—Before taking my medicine I was too weak to spank the baby, but now I can lick my husband, heaven bless you."

Why Not?—An exchange says: "A number of our farmers are having their farms named, which is a good idea." There is no reason why appropriate names could not be found for every farm. It would be pleasant and convenient to recall that such a farm, giving name, lies so many miles from a certain place. Most any suitable name could be found. And then how nice and business-like it would be to have stationery with the name of your place and postoffice address printed thereon. (Call at the Advocate office.)

A train crew at Fulton, Ky., is reported to have talked over a wireless telephone to another crew in Tennessee. It is unnecessary to add that the Tennessee crew accepted the invitation.

The Washington Post suggests that there are several millions of people in the United States able to think without the aid of the distribution of free garden seeds. Granted—but Congressmen couldn't.

There is this day and time too much of a disposition to spend money and energy in memory of dead heroes, lost causes and entitled foreigners and to pass over the sad-eyed individual hungering for a crust of bread and shivering with cold, half-fed. Hero worship is all right, perhaps, but living, suffering humanity should not be pushed aside in the scramble.

An old citizen says people think the world is getting worse but he argues that it is getting better. Years ago there was an ice wall between a clergyman and his people. He ate with them now and then christened married and buried them, he did all that was expected. But things have changed. People are now sensible enough to know that a preacher likes good fun as much as they do. You see men in the cloth play golf, they shout and roar and toast the umpire at concerts and dinners, and what's more they give dinners themselves and enjoy the evenings with toasts and jokes. The old style pastor followed after the Old Testament rules and regulations, for in those days the prophets never seem to have contented with the party, but spent most of their time chiding them. In the New Testament Christ went and came familiarly with the people, took food with them talked and walked with them and showed an interest in their physical as well as their spiritual welfare. It is a good thing for a pastor to go out in society, for his very presence serves as a restraint to any disposition to kick over the traces.

He Thinks So.

John H. Brown, editor of the Christian Guide, has gone on record as advocating a fixed scale of compensation for special work done by ministers. He thinks $5 should be the minimum for a marriage ceremony and $10 for a funeral oration. All ministers, he says, are underpaid for their services, and it is time that they organize and receive what is due them. Dr. Brown thinks that every ministerial association should pass resolutions pertinent to this subject, and see that they are enforced. "If a man cannot pay $5 for getting married," says Dr. Brown, "he should remain single. If a man asks you what you charge, tell him that you make no charge, but never expect less than $5 for your services. This will soon make the dollar fee a thing of the past. For funerals a minister ought never to receive less than $10 and expenses when called out of his own community."

The worries of a weak and sick mother are only begun with the birth of her child. By day her work is constantly interrupted and at night her rest is broken by the wailing of the peevish, puffy infant. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It lightens all the burdens of maternity, giving to mothers strength and vigor, which they impart to their children. In over thirty years of practice Dr. Pierce and his associate staff of nearly a score of physicians have treated and cured more than half a million suffering women. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free of charge. All correspondence is strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Unique Scheme

A Connecticut Yankee who has noticed that personal property easily succeeds in evading taxation, proposes a scheme to stop it. He would let each person go to the public authority and be permitted to estimate his own wealth. That estimate would be accepted as correct without a question. Then when a man dies so much as he has paid taxes on should go to the heirs, and any amount that has escaped taxation, would go to the State. The plan is ingenious and might prove more equitable than the present system, making personal property bear more of its just burden which now falls on real estate. How it would act as a reality in operation is a problem for future working.

Eleven Murder Cases at Jackson

A dispatch from Jackson under date of March 4th says: "Circuit Court began here with Judge Redwine presiding. Since December 21 there have been eleven killings in the county and all are docketed for this term. It looks like a very hot term, and trouble outside the court may break out at any time. All the mountain lawyers and many fighting men are here. Eleven murder cases at one term is pretty strong, even for this country."

R. W. Slack, of Louisville, but formerly of Owensboro, has assumed his duties as law clerk of the Dawes Commission in Indian Territory. The Dawes Commission is a body appointed by Congress to look into all troubles and settle all disputes of the Indians in Indian Territory.

Unique Law.

The recent hanging of two burglars at Asheville calls attention to a unique law in North Carolina. Several years ago the Legislature adopted a statute making burglary in the first degree a capital offense. Burglary in the first degree is the forcible entry for purposes of robbery or theft of a house in which people live. The law assumes that the man who attempts to burglarize such premises is prepared to commit murder if he comes in contact with the occupants. The recent hangings at Asheville were not the first inflictions of the extreme penalty for the violation of this law, but the offense has been comparatively rare. It seems to have had a wholesome effect, and its adoption by other States is being urged.

Prison Commissioners Elected.

The General Assembly in joint session elected Messrs. Edward Fenner and J. M. Richardson to succeed themselves as members of the State Board of Prison Commissioners. The Republicans refused to vote, claiming that under the recent decision of the Court of Appeals in the Pratt-Breckinridge case the Legislature has no right to elect, and that the Governor should appoint.

MT. STERLING, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, MARCH 11, 1902.

Politics Caused It.

Mail Clerk Milton S. Crain was arrested in Lexington Saturday charged with opening letters that passed through his hands while on duty as clerk on the line between Lexington and Jackson. The arrest has occasioned much surprise in the blue grass district, where Crain and his family have been prominent for years. Though doing duty as a railway mail clerk at a salary of $1,000 a year, Crain is one of the prominent business men of Jackson and his county, and is reckoned as a political power. He is owner of half a dozen houses in the town, and quite as an incident of more important business, has owned and operated one of the newspapers of the county.

His brother is Postmaster at Jackson, and it was this circumstance which caused him to enter on the course resulting in his present unfortunate predicament. The brother wants to be reappointed as Postmaster, and has been bending every effort to that end in the face of considerable opposition.

There is no charge or suspicion that Crain had any motive or object in taking the letters other than to find out what was going on about the Postmaster contest.

Crain confessed and was taken before the United States Commissioner at Lexington and bound over to appear in the United States Court at Frankfort.

Albert Redd, colored, dropped dead Sunday on Main Street from heart trouble.

F. M. EWING
DEAD.

Mr. Felix McClellan Ewing died of pneumonia at his home near Owingsville Monday evening at 10:30 o'clock, aged about forty years. The announcement of his death was a heavy blow to his many friends here. In asking some of them concerning his life, his sudden death, the answer came with tremulous voice, for indeed they loved him.

Mr. Ewing had become interested in Mt. Sterling, having recently purchased the National Hotel, and the work to make it one of the modern hotels of Kentucky had begun. He was a rich man, having inherited much of the large estate of his father, the late A. J. Ewing, of Bath County. His wealth is variously estimated from two hundred thousand dollars to more than a million dollars.

The Bath county oil interests are to a large extent on lands owned by him, and had he lived this interest alone would have made him one of the richest men of the States. He was one of the large stockholders of the Montgomery National Bank to be opened in this city at an early date.

One gentleman speaking of him said he was a wise investor of capital, and had he lived a few years longer he could have owned farm lands connecting the county seats of Bath and Montgomery.

He leaves five sisters—Mrs. Joshua Owings and Mrs. J. W. Gatewood, this county; Mrs. Dr. James Poyntz, of Richmond; Mrs. J. E. Gaitskill, of Winchester, and Mrs. Jesus Turney, of Paris.

He had no church relations. His application for membership into the order of Elks had been made. He was a young man of decision, had many friends, and had lived well and would have been capable of doing much good.

At the hour of going to press no arrangements for the last and rites had been given out.

The farm contains one hundred and twenty acres in a high state of cultivation and is an opportunity for a fine investment. Mr. Donnison will be pleased to give any information desired and can be reached at Mt. Sterling, Ky. See advertisement.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

Total sales in this market last week were 4,867 hds., against 4,702 hds. on corresponding week of last year. Total receipts, 3,266 hds., against 2,236 hds. for corresponding week last year. Receipts last week were 931 hds., 22 per cent. of the auction sales, against 22 per cent. for the preceding week. Of the total sales 3,821 hds. were Burley and 1,016 were Dark tobacco.

The offerings this week have been the largest of the year, and the quality has averaged better. The market Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday was dull and draggy. The Continental and American Tobacco Cos. were liberal buyers, but outsiders did not offer competition enough to make a strong market. On Thursday, however, some of the independent buyers and brokers seemed to have mustered up a little more courage, and prices for that day were several bids higher than the three preceding days. The record for 1901 crop was again broken, the Planters' House this week, when a Jessamine county bright leaf sold for $25.50 per cwt. to the American Tobacco Co. The crop to which this high bid belonged, amounting to 13 hogsheads averaged close to $12 per hundred and yielded about $200 per acre.

WE HAD HOPE

Probably we were not sufficiently aware of the merits of the Farris Loca Bill which was before
tucky Senate last week.

Viewed from our stand understanding we had the legislature would honor and the State by the pass
bill, which seeks to re-safely and damning power whisky traffic. The bill failed. Surprise, disappointment and sorrow came to us knew that the name of M erry's Senator was among those who voted against the bill.

We will not give up
of defeat, for upon the depends, in a large measure

or, temporal prosperity

riages of our beloved S

Let us hope that

il whisky traffic and of all is the power of God for the

of these state and evils.

the Business Men's Club will be matters of import, it is interesting to every citizen of Mt. Sterling. Every man should use his "inch of time" in the interest concerning us most at this time. The electric railway should engage the attention of every citizen. The entire country will be webbed by them doing only such work as is adapted to them. It will be a new business, the marketing of things perishable.
Did you ever count the number of berries dried on the bushes? Try it and you will be astonished to know that thousands of dollars in value has been taken up by evaporation.

These little perishable things would give additional circulation to money and the whole country would become more like one manufacturing town with pay day all the while. Let us talk of the advantages and if there be any disadvantages let us have them. We are for home interests first, last and all the while.
